
Date selection spans across window. Help?

Posted by drummerdave - 2008/12/05 18:24

I am having trouble with date selection with IE and firefox. Help? When you go to select a date for reservation. The window spans across the screen and you are not able to select a date. I un/reinstalled it with no luck. I know this had not worked with firefox in the past but for some reason it started doing it with IE. Happens with two seperate websites as well www.tellobistro.com ; www.thirstyperch.com

Hi-

Please install the latest Beta (found in Downloads > Pre-Release Builds). This new version fixes many problems of previous installations. You may want to backup your existing installation incase you run into any problems. We are working on documentation before we release it as stable, but all the features are working correctly.

If the issue still occurs, it may be a problem with that specific template.

Please direct future support requests to the Support Requests category in the forum.

Best Regards-
Mark
